

The Quality Management System certification represents for Seven Elettronica a strategic and conscious choice, aimed at reinforcing the attention towards the Customer and all stakeholders involved in the company's activities. In keeping with our mission:

"We sell the ability to know how to buy, produce, test and manage the product on behalf of the customer" and with the founding values of Professionalism, Tenacity in Action, Ethics, Simplicity and Positive Thinking, Seven Elettronica is committed to being a point of reference in the electronic board assembly sector, guaranteeing a high level of quality in products and services, through attentive listening to the Customer's needs and valuing its people.

Strategic objectives

To pursue this commitment, Seven Elettronica establishes the following objectives:

- Acquire and retain mass production-oriented customers, offering customised and reliable technical solutions.
- Maintain a flexible, competitive and technologically advanced organisational and production structure at both plants in Italy and Hungary.
- Optimise the efficiency of business processes, ensuring economic sustainability, adequate profit margins and the ability to invest in innovation and automation.

Management Commitments

The Management of Seven Elettronica is committed to:

- Develop the technological and production capacity of the in-house automatic lines, while enhancing the "labour intensive" capacity of the Hungarian plant, with a focus on quality and process traceability.
- Enhance the company identity and its strengths through strategic communication channels, to strengthen its reputation in the global market.
- Continuously invest in staff training, with a focus on technology, management, individual responsibility and a culture of continuous improvement.
- Actively involve all personnel in the maintenance and improvement of the Integrated Management System (Quality, Environment, Health and Safety), promoting transversal participation and empowerment in daily activities.
